

Canadian Warmblood and USDF All Breeds Awards Program

The Canadian Warmblood Horse Breeders Association is very pleased to continue our participation with the United States Dressage Federation (USDF) in the All-Breeds Awards Program. This worthwhile and strong program, designed to recognize the accomplishments of specific breeds in dressage, is very attractive to riders and gives the owners of Canadian Warmblood horses in the United States a chance to participate. The Canadian Warmblood All-Breeds Awards allow us to recognize the outstanding horses now competing in dressage in the USA, and elevate the visibility of Canadian Warmblood horses there.

The program is administered by the USDF and each participating breed organization offers awards in each of the nine levels of competition, Training to Grand Prix, for the Open Category. Optional awards, offered at the discretion of the participating organization, may be offered in the following categories: Adult Amateur, Junior Young Rider, Vintage Cup, Freestyle, dressage sport horse breeding or materiale. Canadian Warmblood offers awards in all categories. Qualifying standards set by the USDF are high, requiring horses to accumulate a number of scores from at least four different judges, at a minimum of four different recognized competitions. These stringent requirements mean that there is not necessarily a qualifying horse for every possible award.

Each breed organization sets additional standards for their awards. The CWHBA has established that horses must be registered Canadian Warmblood and the papers must be appropriately transferred, meaning the owner of record in the CWHBA registry matches the owner on the USDF records of competition results.
